ACHIEVING IN FITNESS & AT WORK

Health & Wellness has been a hot topic of conversation across the corporate world over the last decade and most significantly post the 2019-2021 pandemic.

We witnessed the shape of the workforce change over night, demanding for companies to actively encourage an improved work life balance.

Today, this continues with mental health topics taking a front seat and the truth that we are all still trying to figure out what stability looks like in this ever-changing world.

I am here to support in navigating just that, evolving workforces into a higher achieving network of lead professionals.

How I Support Your People:

PERSONAL EFFECTIVENESS & ACCOUNTABILITY
1:1 accountability support, encouraging independance and the discipline to remain consistent to their personal plan week on week.

SUSTAINABLE HEALTH & LIFESTYLE HABITS
Reinforces the importance of data gathering, as individuals will see how tracking their data supports the achievement of their goals.

CONFIDENCE & SELF-MANAGEMENT
At a level of experience we can become stagnant, forgetting what it means to gain more knowledge and the power of it. Individuals will be challenged to stay teachable throughout their journey.

STRUCTURED GOAL SETTING & PERFORMANCE
Introduces and reinforces structured goal setting that can be tracked. Encouraging and enciting high performance.

About Me

Spending 7 years within the Tech space as a Product Manager, I am all too familiar with the challenges that are faced when climbing the career ladder. Not to mention the battle of self-confidence.

As a single Mum, I had always placed various priorities well ahead of myself not realising the power and unknown potential that would be found when putting myself as the number 1 priority.

Prioritising my health and wellness successfully supported me in managing burn out and enabled me to show up in my profession confidently and at my full potential.

I now teach others how to do the same.

Real people. Individual journeys. Sustainable progress

"If you are thinking about working with April, do it!
In just one week, April completely changed my confidence in the gym. She hasn't just helped me learn how to train she has changed the way I think about food. If you want someone who builds your confidence as much as your fitness, April is the one. I cannot thank her enough!"
- Shelley

"What I really value about working with April as my coach is how in tune she is with me as an individual. She truly understands my unique challenges and personal goals, and she helps me break them down into achievable steps."
- Nabeel

As a 60 year old woman who had never done weight training before I found April's guidance on my training and nutrition invaluable. April encouraged me to step out of my comfort zone and I have seen incredible results in areas I thought could never change. I would highly recommend April as a personal coach!
